

ABSTRACT

Dosage forms and devices for enhancing controlled delivery of pharmaceutical agents by use of a drug core composition that increases the solubility of the 5 pharmaceutical agent are described. The present invention provides a means of delivering high doses of lowly soluble drug in oral drug delivery systems that are convenient to swallow, for once-a-day administration.

10